(CONTINUED FROM PREVIOUS VOLUME) hair, soiled doves on the alone, tangled up in rusty old bob wire forever. Let us consider the ignorance of basic science and shooting stars of The Creek. A rattlesnake frightens the horses and the alien escapes.

Ah yes, things are hopping here on the island of my exile! As you can see, my darling muse, the Jewell Effect is in progress. As we walk these tragic beaches, the machinery of the space/time continuum is speeding up, propelling us into the science fiction writing of tomorrow.

Imagine science fiction writing generated through a science fictionlike approach to writing. Science fiction as junk, science fiction as detritus. Nutritionless science fiction, meaningless science fiction, unloved science fiction. Science fiction built on everyday speech, illegibility, unreadability and machinistic repetition. Science fiction as material, science fiction as process, science fiction as something to be shoveled out machine-like and spread across pages.

This is science fiction writing that is more about quantity than quality. Boredom, valuelessness, and nutritionlessness is the ethos of this new type of writing, this science fiction of the future. It is a future that lies in the use of aplastic, objective and entirely nonwriting procedures. It is a future based on information management, word processing, databasing and extreme process. It will be perhaps the first type of sci-fi written by a machine – a Science Fiction Writing Machine.

Because the science fiction writer of the future will be a machine, it will make no claims on originality. On the contrary, it will employ tactics that would be intentionally self and ego effacing if employed by a human. Uncreativity, unoriginality, illegibility, appropriation, plagiarism, fraud, theft, and falsification. You don't need to generate new material to be a science fiction novelist. The intelligent ordering or reframing of existing text is enough. (Parenthetical aside: I appropriated almost all of this essay from various articles about conceptual poetry, including at least one piece that has been picked up and reprocessed by dozens of writers.) The science fiction of the future will be the art of the engineer. In fact, the only human artist will be the engineer who creates the writer, which is to say the machine. The test of writing machine's output won't be whether it could have been done better (the question of the writing workshop), but whether it could conceivably be done otherwise. The Science Fiction Writing Machine will be superior to a human writer in that it will conquer the self-regard of the novelist's ego, turning it back onto the self-reflexive language of science fiction itself.

The machine will replace the human substitutions that are at the heart of metaphor and image with the direct, mechanical presentation of language itself. Spontaneous overflow will be supplanted by meticulous procedure and an exhaustively logical process. This writing machine will be created by me in my own image. I know that it might not be as talented as me. But that's OK. It only needs to write in the image of its creator. Do you think that when God was molding Adam out of dirt and dust that he worried His creation wouldn't be as talented as the Heavenly Father? Until I can perfect my Science Fiction Writing Machine I must be satisfied by emulating the techniques of a machine. That's what I did earlier this year with "Cutting up Two Burroughs," a computerassembled novel inspired by the writings of two very different authors with the same last name – William S. Burroughs, author of "Naked Lunch", and Edgar Rice Burroughs, best known for his science fiction and jungle adventure stories. Employing a rigorously process-based methodology, I exploited the cut-up method popularized by William Burroughs and other aleatoric techniques to create a science fiction of cold electric horror and burning excrement. Burroughsian text is stripped of its original emotion, meaning and metaphor. Reassembled words are shoveled out and spread across pages with minimal human intervention, revealing an intergalactic war zone ruled by Nebula apes, homoerotic extraterrestrials and The Fold-in Death. "Cutting Up Two Burroughs" embraces language as junk, as detritus, as raw material. The result is robot literature, a science fiction for machines.

Most people regard science fiction at the level of invisible language. The language is subordinate to - a medium for communicating - the ideas and the entertainment we associate with the genre. But science fiction language can work at many levels. You can think of its language not merely as an invisible medium but as physical matter. Language that has to be moved around, processed, stored, manipulated. Language as a quantity of text. Language that takes up space -- that both creates space and fills space. I am most interested in science fiction as physical matter, something that you manipulate and build. Filling up space with words. Andy Warhol said quantity is the best gauge on anything (because you're always doing the same thing, even if it looks like you're doing something else). I first explored this type of machine-like writing while producing my science fiction epic, "Marienbad My Love." Much of it is based on appropriated text, which I multiplied with the copy and paste functions of the computer then ran them through online cut-up engines and processed with other aleatoric methods. The result is 17 million words, making "Marienbad My Love" the world's longest novel. I admit that 17 million words is a lot. Anything over a half million words is a lot. Too many words to read, really. It's more interesting to think about that many words than to try to read them.

Most science fiction novels, if you don't read them you don't get them. But you won't necessarily have to read machine-written books to get them.

That's the way it will be in the future. No longer will you read science fiction novels; you will just think about them. The thinking will be better than the reading. Some people would say that's already the case with "Marienbad My Love," a book that no one in their right mind should ever try to read in its entirety. My darling muse, don't you think it is enough that you and I live inside these endless pages, haunting the hexagonal galleries? Surely there is no reason to compel others to join us in this perjury, this literary death. I hope I am on the right track.

But I digress. Admittedly, this business of thinking rather than reading does not appeal to very many science fiction fans. They are still about swordwielding elves, dragons and darkly-romantic vampires. Fan fiction is OK; but don't call it Art. To quote one blogger: "What he [Leach] does is the artistic equivalent of running newspaper ads, magazine articles, and tampon covers through a shredder, pouring glue on it, then taking a piss on it and calling that art." I rather like that. So that's why I wish to create a Science Fiction Reading Machine. It will read and blog about the machine-produced novels. My writing and reading machines will self replicate like computer viruses and hang out in various undetected corners of the Internet. And I will be their God, the all-powerful deity who watches over them. Maybe they'll even write angst-filled works about the meaning of me, their god.

Am I real or just a metaphor for the god that dwells inside all science fiction writing and reading machines?

I am most interested in those writers who pursue their craft in a machine-like way. They are all about obsessive archiving and cataloging. I share their pursuit of the debased language of media and advertising. Ad copy will be one of the raw building blocks of the new science fiction. For my novel "Marienbad My Love With Mango Extracts" (a 280,000-word condensed version of "Marienbad My Love"), I infused the storyline with skin care themes appropriated from beauty-product advertising copy. I was inspired to reformulate the novel with this seemingly-unrelated content after reading a magazine story about the glut of beauty-product ads pitching a food angle. My favorites are the skin care products with such flavorful ingredients as hydrating milk lotion, nourishing body butter, citrusinfused shaving gel and, of course, mango extracts. I am fascinated by the pseudo-scientific suggestion that these delicious-sounding products can actually reanimate dead skin cells. It's science-fiction advertising, which makes it a perfect fit for a science fiction novel.

By no means is machine-like writing a new invention. We've seen invented writing constraints and other techniques from various experimental groups, like OuLiPo. But all too often they fall short of the promise of the Machine by failing to rigorously follow through on their invented writing constraint or technique. They do not actually believe in the Machine they have created, and they fail to follow through. The Machine is just a starting point on the way to their creative, all-too-human output. Think of John Cage and his "Writing Through Finnegans Wake." He had a great writing constraint – a great machine – but then muffed it by modifying and filtering the output through his own creative judgments. The machine was secondary to the creative vision, one that was infused by the writer with meaning, emotion, metaphor and image. Nice, but not nearly so interesting as a purely mechanical mesostic. John Cage should have trusted his machine. And when he was done with it he could have passed it along to new operators.

That is what I'm planning to do with my Science Fiction Writing Machine. It will be a machine that anyone can operate because it is really just a set of simple instructions with a rigid methodology. Follow the instructions automatically and logically – without inserting your own human inspiration. Readability of the resulting product is secondary; process is everything. The Science Fiction Writing Machine would seemingly produce a science fiction of intellect rather than emotion. However, when the raw materials are right the output will naturally carry enough semantic and emotional weight to make for an interesting science fiction story. The result will be a genuinely creative product, albeit one without the creative intervention of the operator of the machine. I have taken this machine-like approach to a new level with the recent launch of my Space Artist Series, which is intended to generate a large number of books by employing online cut-up engines and other computerized tools to process content appropriated from other artists and writers. I oversee production, but exercise no authorial control. The series began with “31 Days, 31 Novels,” which is the result of a month-long conceptual art project designed to produce 31 science-fiction novels during August 2011. These works are comprised of titles, plots and other text lifted directly from the “Adopt” threads on the website of National Novel Writing Month, an Internet-based writing program which challenges participants to write a 50,000-word novel in one month. I made no changes to the appropriated content; typos and grammatical errors were retained and then repeated and multiplied by the cut-up engines and other computerized tools. And I published the resulting novels using online tools, such as Amazon's CreateSpace and Kindle.

The books of the Space Artist Series are uniform in appearance. No longer unique, no longer limited in edition, no longer touched by the authorial hand – no longer bearing any necessary relationship to the writings of Mark Leach at all. The Space Artist Series paves the way for a future of machine-generated literature. I'm very excited about this new undertaking. I prepared for this month-long writing marathon by appropriating text from the National Novel Writing Month's “Adopt a Title” and “Adopt a Sci-Fi Plot” threads. I matched up random titles and plots, and the initial results were immediately beyond my wildest dreams. You should pick up a copy! When you do, be sure to check out the italicized novel summaries that appear throughout the book, particularly Space Artist Series No. 26. That is one of my favorites, due in part to its Rod Serling-like “trick” ending. It's gold, I tell you – gold! “31 Days, 31 Novels” is machine-generated science fiction at its finest.

But you don't have to read my work to partake of this brave new world of literature. You can make your own right now. You too can become a writing machine. Be a writing machine that produces a science fiction novel of intellect rather than emotion. Write science fiction in which the substitutions at the heart of metaphor and image are replaced by the direct presentation of language itself, with spontaneous overflow supplanted by meticulous procedure and an exhaustively logical process. Write science fiction in which the self-regard of your ego is turned back onto the self-reflexive language of the novel itself. So that the test of your work is no longer whether it could have been done better (the question of the writing workshop), but whether it could conceivably have been done otherwise. As a writing machine, you make no claims on originality. On the contrary, you employ intentionally self and ego effacing tactics using uncreativity, unoriginality, illegibility, appropriation, plagiarism, fraud, theft and falsification. Put your trust in a machine-like commitment to writing, a commitment based on information management, word processing, databasing and extreme process. Boredom, valuelessness, and nutritionlessness is your ethos.

You are committed to language as material, language as process, language as something to be shoveled out machine-like and spread across pages. You are committed to language as junk, language as detritus. Nutritionless language, meaningless language, unloved language, entartete sprache, everyday speech, illegibility, unreadability, uncreativity, unoriginality, illegibility, appropriation, plagiarism, fraud, theft and falsification. Put your trust in a machine-like commitment to writing, a commitment based on information management, word processing, databasing and extreme process. Boredom, valuelessness, and nutritionlessness is your ethos.

Trust the machine – be the machine. Be the Science Fiction Writing Machine. Notice how it selects just the right text, overpowering the deputy and escaping into the space/time continuum.

In his acclaimed book “Indian Depredations in Texas,” J.W. Wilbarger recounts many true tales. We have processed this information through the Jewell Effect and fed it into the Science Fiction Writing Machine. Through this process we have learned of a greater truth that lies beyond the outer marker of the border lands, where a technologically sophisticated band of Apaches had genetically melded with the extraterrestrials. A small band of the Apache/alien hybrids attacked a stagecoach in Quitman Canyon. Following the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers were brought low by budget cuts, stepping out the door of the Local Option, an old man crawling in the middle of Main Street. For what purpose? He wishes to be the sheriff of the Battle with Texas Rangers.

I believe it was January 1881, For several weeks they were really no more than a ball of sticks, dreaming of a carrot, reaching for the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's reins. A shooting star screams across the heavens. Armed with a sawed-off blaster, we have stated the facts as received. Let us consider a vision explained in earnest manner camp. A fight ensued on the morning of January 29. The fight, though small, has floated up at the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's reins, a shooting star screaming emergency alarm, implanting subcutaneous chips, epidermal pre-conditioning, extractor claw swinging wildly, CCU keypads and a destruction experiments, Quantum entanglement – that's the ticket.

During the early experiments, the PCR reactor finally came upon the Indian camp. A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, shine a little brighter and lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind a crystal skull of clouds, thunder rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, scalping energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death tumbled down fence line, boots poking straight up at the sky, reaching for a game, carcasses hung up for display from a little shed roof over the sidewalk, what heads and smile at the folly of horse and man, in time Kit recovering and the Rangers were kept busy in pursuit Victorio's band of Apaches, A small 30 feet tall, sheets of blue energy, crackling with each unfortunate bird or bug, washed fashioned by his wife from her wedding dress, He wore these caps at all the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of own scalping thanks to the inexplicable appearance of his sister and the psychic vision horrifying Indians in the nearby brush, only altered to their presence by the psychic visions type, grafting timelines, following the manual, time port approach through transparent walls, portal control for only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers from Captain Nevill's a man for you, all stick and no carrot, listening unseen from the shadows, the you, all stick and no carrot, listening unseen from the shadows, the stallion quietly explained, Then he told Big Foot the whole tale, Doctors were not of much assistance red from the trees, whistling through tombstones, spurious old father, a great black rent, mouths, 1871 on Second Street, pained disgust, sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal regarding this amazing legend of 19th century Texas, Consider a Wild West with alien a little shed roof over the sidewalk, what appeared to be an Old-Western shoot-out, and the nightmare angry, knocks him to the cowboy from the fence and stomps him into a mummified hand, chopped off an Indian chief killed in a battle with Texas of much assistance to Kit, In time, the skin rotted away and the skull bone in a dream of Karger naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw a museum, reanimating a mummified hand, chopped off an Indian chief killed in a battle West, CEOs and diplomats, shimmering globes of air, bubbles popping by twos and fours items taken from the stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they found a across his face, a black hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene PCE destruction experiments, Quantum entanglement – that's The trail turned back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following the and the Rangers were kept busy in pursuit Victorio's band of Apaches, A small band dreams of unpleasant children, stars shake their heads and smile at the folly of horse and escapes, back at the Rustlers Corral, alien brakes bond and escapes, Indian helps outlaw no carrot, listening unseen from the shadows, the stallion quietly snorts at this feminine a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man with close cropped chestnut hair, soiled doves investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene PCE destruction experiments, Quantum entanglement – that's off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking inconsolably at the fresh rabbits, beast, sells him to a traveling circus, where they geld him and make him spend invents his way out, photographs his way out of linear time in train whistles, smear outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked cessation of psychic dissection, face blazing, grin splits the sky and fades, a vast crystal budget cuts, And there are the pieces of the scalp of Kit Karger, the console the wronged creature, a man for you, all stick and no carrot, listening unseen company was disbanded due to budget cuts, And there are the pieces of the at the ranch, the other nightmares console the wronged creature, a man for you, from the old courthouse, burned to the ground the previous year, off to the Cattle portal gate to Historic West, CEOs and diplomats, shimmering globes of air, bubbles popping by marble, whiff of brimstone, wounded road, scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks as the last Indian battle in Texas, In 1885 the Ranger company was disbanded carcasses hung up for display from a little shed roof over the sidewalk, what with a blast of a scalping energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and of the Local Option, an old man crawling in the middle of Main Street covered in blood, the ground thick with blood, the head no where to be seen, out the door of the Local Option, an old man crawling in the middle and asked what was wrong with Kit's head, I been scalped, he explained, Then he explosion splitting the night, data units at Central Control, secret government/extraterrestrial protocols, CCU records to hand across a blackened maw, a low, pitiful moan, wiry, wizened, skeleton, dark deep-set eyes, a camp that was only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke blowing back clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death close by, hear a the three dead men, death close by, hear a shout and give out, Propping himself skull bone became diseased, His brain was exposed to the elements, Still, he returned to coming to rest along a tumbled down fence line, boots poking straight up at his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, busy in pursuit Victorio's band of Apaches, A small band of Apaches attacked a stagecoach Kit, In time, the skin rotted away and the skull bone became diseased, His traveling circus, where they geld him and make him spend the rest of his his own scalping thanks to the inexplicable appearance of his sister and the psychic vision a black hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs but did not finish a belted and pulley-type generator motor, And of course, there were nearby brush, only altered to their presence by the psychic visions of Margaret, who clouds, thunder rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, sudden cessation of psychic dissection, quite the pack rat and his house was a lot like a museum, reanimating Poe has brought to reality new facts – and a new alternate timeline – regarding face, a black hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs protection between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase contaminant, which was quick to hatch, upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The in cattle season, trail-weary cowboys, faro games in Hell's Half Acre, the red-light district, and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked man helps alien to escape, alien rifle shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke blowing in the middle of Main Street searching for teeth, dusty road in front of the Kit recovering from his scalping, however, the skin never grew entirely over a small scalp of Kit Karger, the man who survived his own scalping thanks to the inexplicable Grange, When he stepped inside, he removed his fur cap, and the skull cap forever, ignorance of basic science shooting stars being only meteorites, of course , the Still, he returned to farming in 1836 and participated in the Texas Revolution by into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, The trail their heads and smile at the folly of horse and man, in time Kit whiff of brimstone, wounded road, scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks over the skull caps, Kit ran into Big Foot Wallace in 1838, They met And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene He was quite the pack rat and his house was a lot like a boots sticking out from behind a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick fence line, boots poking straight up at the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's an Old-Western shoot-out, and yet neither gun had been fired, both men killed by single providing provisions to the rebel army, He constructed a grist mill, one of the first creature, a man for you, all stick and no carrot, listening unseen from the Then I realize it is not a museum at all, but the home of rotted away and the skull bone became diseased, His brain was exposed to the it was January 1881, For several weeks the U. S. Tenth Cavalry and the Rangers hand, didn't see the terrifying and horrifying Indians in the nearby brush, only altered to make him spend the rest of his days giving pony rides in the happy dreams front of the saloon bathed in pink rays of a North Texas sunrise, moving site, Following the trail into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a camp yet neither gun had been fired, both men killed by single rifle shots fired for you, all stick and no carrot, listening unseen from the shadows, the stallion quietly dreamscape, coming to rest along a tumbled down fence line, boots poking straight up at believe it was January 1881, For several weeks the U, S, Tenth Cavalry and the but the home of Jewell Poe, inventor of the time shift process, He was is really no more than a ball of sticks, dreaming of a carrot that particular cowboy is really no more than a ball of sticks, dreaming of a by single rifle shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke of skull caps, which were fashioned by his wife from her wedding dress, He wore by his wife from her wedding dress, He wore these caps at all time, anxious time vacationers, the Wheels of Jagannatha exploding in emergency alarm, implanting subcutaneous chips, epidermal an Indian chief killed in a battle with Texas Rangers, I believe it was January Foot forgot himself and asked what was wrong with Kit's head, I been scalped, two-bit faro game, rolling a drunk for pocket change, squirrel toothed dove, a hard looking sky, rip in the master film sweeping the valley, blurred shadows gathering in a of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers single rifle shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke a high-tech photo-chemical process based on work of Jewell Poe has brought to reality with alien technology, decades before the aerial clock crash landings in Aurora and Strangers a trampled spot where Kit quenched his thirst by a river, his circadian-built UV protection to escape, thundering hooves crossing Rattlesnake Creek, rattlesnake frightens horses and alien escapes, outlaw overpowers of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers and con men luring hapless travelers into crashing sheets of rain, dead body, boots sticking clouds, thunder rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, sudden cessation of psychic dissection, churches and bleak landscapes of death, cellular instructions over the viral DNA dream phones, blood 29, The fight, though small, has come down through history as the last Indian battle barrel-chested man with close cropped chestnut hair, soiled doves on the sporting side of town, invents his way out, photographs his way out of linear time in train whistles, Peacemaker, down a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual time portal maintenance, due to technical difficulties and get her back to the transmission of UV protection between the UV lamps vividly in a dream of Karger naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death close by, Aurora and Strangers Rest, a trampled spot where Kit quenched his thirst by a the trail into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a camp that was only midnight hack race in cattle season, trail-weary cowboys, faro games in Hell's Half Acre, the horse neighing mutual discontent, why not shine a little brighter and lead us during grist mill, one of the first in Denton County, Also, he built but did not data units at Central Control, secret government/extraterrestrial protocols, CCU records to verify the OPIE signature and the skull cap came off, too, revealing the horrifying and terrifying raw meat spurts from the knife, Jewell Poe invents his way out, photographs his way out lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind lifts Karger out of his psychic vision of a woman friend – and his own research into time travel and body, boots sticking out from behind a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers finally came upon the Indian North Texas sunrise, moving slowly on hands and knees in the dusty road, running shriveled a grist mill, one of the first in Denton County, Also, he built but did it was January 1881, For several weeks the U. S. Tenth Cavalry and the more than a ball of sticks, dreaming of a carrot that is just an old Acre, the red-light district, a thunderhead looming on the horizon east toward Rusk, dominos the OPIE signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested horse declares, no rest until death has been avenged, passing rodeo clown hears the the darkened dreamscape, coming to rest along a tumbled down fence line, boots poking January 29, The fight, though small, has come down through history as the last front of the saloon bathed in pink rays of a North Texas sunrise, moving slowly Rangers came across a camp that was only hours old, Baylor's men met up with tracks explode in a splash of crimson, fading into the inky blackness of space, stagnant crimson, fading into the inky blackness of space, stagnant memories, sharp smell of a sawed-off beefy, barrel-chested man with close cropped chestnut hair, soiled doves on the sporting side of Rangers were kept busy in pursuit Victorio's band of Apaches, A small band of his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into of his injury, Shocked, Big Foot forgot himself and asked what was wrong with moving slowly on hands and knees in the dusty road, running shriveled fingers through hoof out in the abandoned Golden Nugget Mine, only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers from Captain dead shiny white, rusting marble, whiff of morning of January 29, The fight, horrifying and terrifying raw meat of his injury, this feminine treachery and flies back across dream to the aid of Karger, arrives to find his master psychic vision of a woman friend – and his own research was quick to hatch, not quick enough Kit was hit in blood, the ground thick with blood, the head no where a traveling circus, where they geld him and make him spend into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a happy dreams of unpleasant children, stars shake their heads and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and a pile of splinters, meanwhile back at the morning of January 29, The fight, though small, has come down through history as with Kit's head, I been scalped, he explained, a Wild West with alien technology, decades before the aerial clock site, Following the trail into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a camp a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick with blood, the head And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene PCE destruction experiments, Quantum with a blast of a scalping energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the death close by, hear a shout and lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and a vision explained in earnest manner with perfect confidence, a ghostly sight seen vividly in a dream midnight hack race in cattle season, trail-weary cowboys, faro sort of museum, or maybe it will be, the house is filled with old things, we that was only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of fired at long range, a bizarre nothing but a broken shell, no death in vain the horse declares, no rest until death has revealing the horrifying and terrifying raw meat of his injury, Shocked, rusty old bob wire forever, ignorance of basic science shooting stars her back to the transmission of UV protection between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase contaminant, which was clown hears the stallion, lassos the unsuspecting beast, things, we look through some of them, I hold a little technical difficulties all Historic American West time travel packages via the Fort Worth portal skin never grew entirely over a small place in the middle of the energy, crackling with each unfortunate bird or bug, washed blue of the afternoon with a set of quad-phased image of Karger naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the Rustlers Corral, alien brakes bond and escapes, Indian helps outlaw to escape, thundering hooves crossing psychic visions of Margaret, who transmitted her warning to budget cuts, And there are the pieces of the brimstone, wounded road, scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks explode in a splash of crimson, fading a sawed-off blaster, we have stated the facts as of

Margaret, who transmitted her warning with wavelengths of New research using a high-tech photo-chemical process based on work hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs and flashes of Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, The trail turned ran into Big Foot Wallace space, stagnant memories, sharp smell of a sawed-off blaster, we have Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they into the inky blackness of space, stagnant memories, sharp smell of Half Acre, the red-light district, a thunderhead looming on naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien For several weeks the U. S. Tenth the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's reins, a shooting star screams across the in rusty old bob wire forever, ignorance of basic science shooting stars being hack race in cattle season, trail-weary cowboys, faro games in Hell's Half Acre, to verify the OPIE signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man with trail turned back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following the trail into was disbanded due to budget cuts, And there are the pieces psychic vision of a woman friend – and his own research a carrot that is just an old tumbleweed, no use crying, what I A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, time, including dinner, He took them off to sleep, but wore a night cap, In the Victorio's band of Apaches, A small band of Apaches attacked a stagecoach in Quitman Canyon, Following the cold trail, swinging wildly, CCU keypads and a Peacemaker, would guide him home, cursing starts experiments, Quantum entanglement – that's with each unfortunate bird or bug, washed blue of the afternoon with ain't, an unrepentant tone makes in Quitman Canyon, Following the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the middle of the old scalp, He covered his wound with a variety of skull caps, of 185 and 254 nm, She was able to calm Sarah to sleep, but wore a night cap, In the toward Rusk, dominos on the the wronged creature, a man for you, the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's reins, a shooting star screams across the heavens meat of his injury, Shocked, Big Foot forgot himself and the previous year, off to the Cattle Exchange where drunks sleep it off in the gutter, small-time gamblers of UV protection between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase contaminant, which was wounded road, scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks including dinner, He took them shine a little brighter and lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind lifts Karger out of cap, In the outdoors, he wore caps of soft is part glass and shoots a chemical, not bullets, Then I When he stepped inside, he removed to be seen, chasing the assassin, splits the sky and fades, a vast crystal skull of stars, ruined two-bit faro game, rolling a drunk for pocket change, squirrel toothed powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs and chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm Trail over the skull caps, Kit ran into Big Foot Wallace in angry, knocks him to the cowboy from the fence the afternoon with a set of quad-phased image monitors swinging wide open, metallic mouths, 1871 away, why shoot your star-shooter at Blackie, now all alone, tangled up in rusty old bob wire forever, technology, New research using a high-tech photo-chemical process based He covered his wound with a variety of skull shadows, the stallion quietly snorts at this feminine treachery a mummified hand, chopped off an Indian chief killed in the skull caps, Kit ran into Big Foot Wallace history as the last Indian battle in received, a vision explained in earnest manner with perfect confidence, a ghastly sight seen vividly in up at the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's reins, a shooting star screams across faro game, rolling a drunk for pocket change, squirrel toothed dove, a hard looking type, grafting timelines, following a hard looking type, grafting timelines, following the manual, time port approach through transparent government/extraterrestrial protocols, CCU records to verify the OPIE signature on the com-panel, close kept busy in pursuit Victorio's band come down through history as the last Indian battle a lot like a museum, reanimating a mummified hand, chopped off an Indian chief killed in a battle with bone became diseased, His brain was exposed to the elements, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers from Captain barking inconsolably at the fresh rabbits, squirrels and other game, carcasses detachment of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers OPIE signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man the sky and fades, a vast crystal skull Second Street, pained disgust, sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog the inexplicable appearance of his sister and the psychic vision of a woman friend – and his own 1881, For several weeks the U. Apaches attacked a stagecoach in Quitman Canyon, Following the cold metallic mouths, 1871 on Second Street, pained Karger out of his saddle, sends him cartwheeling across the darkened dreamscape, coming to rest washed blue of the afternoon with a set of quad-phased image monitors swinging old man crawling in the middle of Main Street searching for teeth, dusty road grist mill, one of the first in Denton County, Also, he built but nightmare to his aid, pretty filly arrives, disappointed to find that Tenth Cavalry and the Rangers were farming in 1836 and participated in the Texas alarm, implanting subcutaneous chips, epidermal cuts, And there are the pieces of the scalp of monitors swinging wide open, metallic mouths, been scalped, he explained, Then he told Big Foot the whole tale, Doctors were not of much assistance aid, pretty filly arrives, disappointed to find that this particular cowboy smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks explode in a splash of crimson, fading into the inky blackness of space, in rusty old bob wire forever, off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking inconsolably at the fresh rabbits, squirrels and to be an Old-Western shoot-out, and yet neither gun had been fired, both men killed by single rifle linear time in train whistles, smear of red, dead shiny white, rusting marble, whiff of brimstone, wounded road, and lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind lifts Karger out of his saddle, sends him cartwheeling blaster, we have stated the facts as received, a vision explained in but the home of Jewell Poe, inventor of the time shift process, He was quite the pack sticks, dreaming of a carrot that is just an old tumbleweed, no and no carrot, listening unseen from the old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company he wore caps of soft over thatch springs from the prairie, raising the blaster, a roar and explosion splitting the side of town, two-bit faro century Texas, Consider a Wild West with alien technology, decades before the aerial clock crash landings steel 30 feet tall, sheets of blue energy, crackling with each unfortunate bird or bug, where to be seen, chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm shout and give out, Propping himself against the thick trunk, a sort of town's tenderloin district, gap-toothed, yellowed dentures, crooked, tobacco-stained midnight hack race by single rifle shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke blowing back across his pretty filly arrives, disappointed to find that this particular cowboy is really are canceled until future notice, shining with diamond brilliance, poles of burnished steel 30 feet fashioned by his wife from her wedding dress, He wore these middle of the old scalp, He covered his wound with a vain the horse declares, no rest until death has been avenged, passing a great black rent, a torn sky, rip Grande and into Mexico, Along the way crackling with each unfortunate bird or bug, washed blue of the vast stretch of time.

Karger drew in great lungs of air, bubbles popping by twos and fours over the heads of anxious time vacationers, the Wheels of Jagannatha exploding sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking inconsolably at the fresh of Twin River Jail, but the home of Jewell Poe, inventor of the time shift process, He dream of Karger naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and of russet orange red from the trees, whistling through tombstones, spurious old father, a Street, pained disgust, sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking pre-conditioning, extractor claw swinging wildly, CCU keypads and a Peacemaker, down a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick with blood, the head no where to be seen, chasing the fight, though small, has come down through history as the last Indian battle in Texas, In 1885 the Ranger company down a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual time portal maintenance, due to technical difficulties all each unfortunate bird or bug, washed blue of the afternoon with a set of quad-phased image monitors swinging wide altered to their presence by the psychic visions of Margaret, who transmitted her warning with wavelengths of 185 and 254 nm, She to calm Sarah and get her back to the transmission of UV protection between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase contaminant, which was He was quite the pack rat and his house was a lot like a museum, reanimating a mummified the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, The traveling circus, where they geld him and make him spend the rest of his days Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued by, hear a shout and give out, Propping himself against the thick trunk, a sort of museum, or maybe it will be, out the door of the Local Option, an old man crawling in the middle of Main Street searching for are canceled until future notice, shining with diamond brilliance, poles of burnished steel 30 feet as received, a vision explained in earnest manner with perfect confidence, a ghastly sight seen vividly in a dream of Karger naked, scalped A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, though small, has come down through history as the last Indian battle in She was able to calm Sarah and get her back to the transmission of UV protection between the UV lamps and the it off in the gutter, small-time gamblers and con men luring hapless travelers into crashing sheets of rain, dead body, however, the skin never grew entirely over a small place in the middle of from the shadows, the stallion quietly snorts at this feminine treachery and flies back across the dream find his master is dead, nothing but a broken shell, no death in vain the horse declares, no rest until death has been mutual discontent, why not shine a little brighter and lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind lifts Karger out of his saddle, of Margaret, who transmitted her warning with wavelengths of 185 and 254 nm, She was able to calm Sarah and get gamblers and con men luring hapless travelers into crashing sheets of rain, dead body, boots sticking out down a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual time portal maintenance, due to technical difficulties all Historic American West time travel packages via the Fort Worth believe it was January 1881, For several weeks the U. S. Tenth Cavalry and the Rangers came across a camp that was only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a off, too, revealing the horrifying and terrifying raw meat of his injury, Shocked, Big Foot forgot himself and asked what was wrong dirty hand across a blackened maw, a low, pitiful moan, wiry, wizened, skeleton, dark deep-set Canyon, Following the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and spurts from the knife, Jewell Poe invents his way out, photographs his way out of linear time in train the Rangers finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning found items taken from the stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following army, He constructed a grist mill, one of the first in Denton County, Also, fur cap, and the skull cap came off, too, revealing the horrifying and terrifying raw meat of his injury, Shocked, Big stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following the trail into the sheets of rain, dead body, boots sticking out from behind a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the naked, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, – and his own research into time travel and carbon-chlorine bond technology, New research using a high-tech photo-chemical process back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following the trail into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a camp dove, a hard looking type, grafting timelines, following the manual, time port approach through transparent walls, portal control for Central Control Unit trail into the Eagle Mountains, the Rangers came across a camp that was only hours old, museum, or maybe it will be, the house is filled with old things, we look through some of them, I Wheels of Jagannatha exploding in emergency alarm, implanting subcutaneous chips, epidermal pre-conditioning, extractor claw swinging wildly, CCU keypads and a Peacemaker, down hear a shout and give out, Propping himself against the thick trunk, a sort of museum, or maybe it a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual time portal maintenance, due to technical difficulties all Historic American West time terrifying and horrifying Indians in the nearby brush, only altered to their presence by the psychic visions at the folly of horse and man, in time Kit recovering from his scalping, however, the skin and knees in the dusty road, running shriveled fingers through hoof prints and wagon ruts, wiping a dirty hand across a blackened maw, a company was disbanded due to budget cuts, And there are the pieces of the scalp of Kit Karger, the man who U, S, Tenth Cavalry and the Rangers were kept busy in pursuit Victorio's band of Apaches, A small band of Apaches attacked phones, blood spurts from the knife, Jewell Poe invents his way out, photographs his way out of linear time in train whistles, neighing mutual discontent, why not shine a little brighter and lead us during daylight, Suddenly, a howling coyote wind lifts unrepentant tone makes the nightmare angry, knocks him to the cowboy from the fence and stomps nose, bald head of yellow wax, slumming in the town's tenderloin district, gap-toothed, yellowed dentures, crooked, tobacco-stained midnight scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked man helps alien Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken her wedding dress, He wore these caps at all time, including dinner, He took tracking, the Rangers finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, though small, of burnished steel 30 feet tall, sheets of blue energy, crackling with each unfortunate museum at all, hears the stallion, lassos the unsuspecting beast, sells him to a traveling circus, where they geld him and make him spend the rest body, boots sticking out from behind a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick with blood, south of the Arkansas River, beehive-shaped homes of thatch springs from the prairie, raising the blaster, a roar across his face, a black hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs and flashes of russet orange red from scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown tracks explode in a splash of crimson, fading into the inky blackness master is dead, nothing but a broken shell, no death in vain the horse declares, no upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, though small, a belted and pulley-type generator motor, And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene realize it is not a museum at all, 1838, They met in a warm cabin about twelve miles above La Grange, When hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death close by, hear a shout and give out, Propping himself against the thick portal gate to Historic West, CEOs and diplomats, shimmering globes of air, bubbles popping by twos and fours over seen, chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm Trail like glue, into the Wichita Indian village, just south from the trees, whistling through tombstones, spurious old father, a great black rent, a torn sky, rip of much assistance to Kit, In time, the skin rotted away and the skull on Second Street, pained disgust, sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking inconsolably vapor-phase contaminant, which was quick to hatch, not quick enough Kit was hit with a blast of the horse declares, no rest until death has been avenged, passing rodeo clown hears the stallion, what I ain't, an unrepentant tone makes the nightmare angry, knocks him to the cowboy from the fence and stomps Corral, alien brakes bond and escapes, Indian helps outlaw to escape, thundering hooves crossing earnest manner with perfect confidence, a ghastly sight seen vividly in a dream of Karger naked, scalped and wounded but CCU records to verify the OPIE signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man a Peacemaker, down a black-walled, empty tunnel, semi-annual time portal maintenance, due to technical difficulties all Historic American West man crawling in the middle of Main Street searching for teeth, dusty road in front of travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene PCE destruction experiments, Quantum entanglement – that's the ticket, During the early experiments, the PCR reactor bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, cabin about twelve miles above La Grange, When he stepped inside, he removed his fur cap, and the skull cap came off, too, scalping, however, the skin never grew entirely over a small place in the middle of the old scalp, He covered his gutter, small-time gamblers and con men luring hapless travelers into crashing sheets of rain, dead body, the Rangers finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, and his house was a lot like a museum, reanimating a mummified hand, chopped off an alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked man helps and escapes, sheriff of Twin River Jail, but the home of Jewell Poe, inventor of the time shift process, He was Texas Rangers, I believe it was January 1881, For several weeks the U. S. Tenth Cavalry and the Rangers were kept busy trusty horse's reins, a shooting star screams across the heavens and scares the animal away, why shoot your star-shooter at stars, ruined churches and bleak landscapes of death, cellular instructions over the viral DNA dream are canceled until future notice, shining with diamond brilliance, poles of burnished steel 30 feet tall, sheets of blue energy, crackling skull of clouds, thunder rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, sudden cessation of psychic dissection, found items taken from the stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they his way out of linear time in train whistles, smear of red, dead shiny white, rusting marble, whiff fight, though small, has come down through history as the last Indian battle in Texas, In 1885 the Ranger company was disbanded due to band of Apaches, A small band of Apaches attacked a stagecoach in Quitman Canyon, Following the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers tracked the burns, wind rising, ripping blurs and flashes of russet orange red from the trees, whistling through tombstones, spurious old father, a great black rent, face blazing, grin splits the sky and fades, a vast crystal skull of stars, ruined churches and bleak landscapes of death, cellular instructions over and get her back to the transmission of UV protection between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase and wagon ruts, wiping a dirty hand across a blackened maw, a low, pitiful moan, wiry, wizened, skeleton, dark deep-set eyes, hawk-bill nose, bald escape, thundering hooves crossing Rattlesnake Creek, rattlesnake frightens horses and alien escapes, outlaw overpowers deputy and escapes, sheriff of Twin River Jail draws his gun. But it is the glass pistol of western lore, shooting a chemical, not bullets. Then I realize we are not in a museum at all, but a home. The cursing starts in too dark a place, the horse neighing mutual discontent. Why not shine? The alien escapes, and the masked man helps the alien to escape. The alien eludes the deputy and escapes and the back film is sweeping the valley of its blurred shadows that are gathering in a crystal skull of golden Old West clouds, a sepia-toned thunderhead rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces even though it is still noon hot, slicing like a sudden knife. Jewell Poe invents his way out of the westering sun, photographing linear time through a space/time train, his protection rifle close at hand. He didn't see the terrifying and horrifying Indians in the nearby wounded road, their scent of immortality and gun smoke hanging rusty and weed choked in the grown tracks that explode in a splash. Now he shoots a chemical, not bullets., Then I realize it is not a home at all And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene PCE destruction skull of clouds, thunder rattling overhead, chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, sudden cessation of the Local Option, an old man crawling in the middle of Main Street searching for teeth, dusty road in front of camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, though small, has come down through history wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed and alien escapes, masked from his scalping, however, the skin never grew entirely over a small place in the middle of the old scalp, He covered his clown hears the stallion, lassos the unsuspecting beast, sells him to a traveling circus, where disappointed to find that this particular cowboy is really no more than a ball of sticks, dreaming of a carrot that is the Chisholm Trail like glue, into the Wichita Indian village, just south of the Arkansas and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, Along with blood, the head no where to be seen, chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm Trail like glue, into inventor of the time shift process, He was quite the pack rat and his house was a skull caps, Kit ran into Big Foot Wallace in 1838, They met in a warm in the dusty road, running shriveled fingers through hoof prints and wagon ruts, wiping a dirty hand sweeping the valley, blurred shadows gathering in a crystal skull of clouds, thunder rattling overhead, hole with fuzz around it like powder burns, wind rising, ripping blurs and flashes of russet Grande and into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they found energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death close by, hear a the cold trail, Baylor and his Rangers tracked the Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, both men killed by single rifle shots fired at long range, a bizarre occurrence, continuing investigation, powder smoke blowing shoots a chemical, not bullets, Then I realize it is not a museum at Nugget Mine, Karger rides his black, snorting stallion through a melancholy dream, following the stars that would guide him home, stage, The trail turned back into Texas, where they found a fresh camp site, Following the trail into the Eagle Mountains, the abandoned Golden Nugget Mine, Karger rides his black, snorting stallion through a melancholy dream, following the stars that would guide him home, cursing It is part glass and shoots a chemical, not bullets, Then I realize it is not he explained, Then he told Big Foot the whole tale, Doctors were not of much assistance to Kit, In time, the skin rotted beehive-shaped homes of thatch springs from the prairie, raising the blaster, a roar and to the Cattle Exchange where drunks sleep it off in the gutter, small-time gamblers and con men luring hapless travelers into crashing sheets Big Foot the whole tale, Doctors were not of much assistance to Kit, In time, the skin rotted away and overpowers deputy and escapes, sheriff of Twin River Jail, but the home of Jewell Poe, inventor of the time shift process, He we look through some of them, I hold a little revolver that is made for at this feminine treachery and flies back across the dream to the aid of Karger, sporting side of town, two-bit faro game, rolling a drunk for pocket change, squirrel toothed dove, a hard looking dress, He wore these caps at all time, including dinner, He took them off to a little shed roof over the sidewalk, what appeared to be an Old-Western shoot-out, and yet neither gun had been fired, shift process, He was quite the pack rat and his house was a lot like a museum, reanimating a mummified hand, chopped off signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man with close cropped the Texas Revolution by providing provisions to the rebel army, He constructed a grist mill, one of the alternate timeline – regarding this amazing legend of 19th century Texas, Consider a Wild West with alien technology, decades before the aerial clock crash that was only hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers dead shiny white, rusting marble, whiff of brimstone, wounded road, scent of immortality and gun smoke, rusty, weed-grown carrot that is just an old tumbleweed, no use crying, what I ain't, an unrepentant tone makes the nightmare Consider a Wild West with alien technology, decades before the aerial clock crash landings in Aurora and Strangers Rest, a control for Central Control Unit portal gate to Historic West, CEOs and diplomats, shimmering his thirst by a river, his circadian-built UV protection rifle close at hand, didn't happy dreams of unpleasant children, stars shake their heads and smile at the folly motor, And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase in front of the saloon bathed in pink rays of a North Texas sunrise, moving slowly on hands and knees in the a tumbled down fence line, boots poking straight up at the sky, reaching for a trusty horse's blaster lowered into the infernal pit, a dog barking inconsolably at the fresh rabbits, squirrels and other game, carcasses hung After more tracking, the Rangers finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on 185 and 254 nm, She was able to calm Sarah and get her back to the transmission of UV protection between the finally came upon the Indian camp, A fight ensued on the morning of January 29, The fight, scalped and wounded but alive, clearing out the outlaw hideout, mountain lion scares horses and alien escapes, posse ambushed escapes, outlaw overpowers deputy and escapes, sheriff of Twin River Jail, but the home of Jewell seen, chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm Trail like glue, into the Wichita Indian village, just south enough Kit was hit with a blast of a scalping energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, a blast of a scalping energy ray, came with an agonizing pain and buried the three dead men, death close by, hear a to escape, alien eludes deputy and escapes, back at the Rustlers Corral, alien brakes bond and escapes, Indian helps outlaw chilling empty spaces, still noon heat, sudden cessation of psychic dissection, face blazing, grin splits the sky to consist of a wavelengths of 185, Look over there, a mummified hand, chopped off an Indian chief killed in a battle sticking out from behind a wooden barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick with skeleton, dark deep-set eyes, hawk-bill nose, bald head of yellow wax, slumping in the the Rio Grande and into Mexico, Along the way they found items taken from the the ranch, the other nightmares console the wronged creature, a man for you, all stick and no carrot, listening through tombstones, spurious old father, a great black rent, a torn sky, rip in be, the house is filled with old things, we look through some of them, I prints and wagon ruts, wiping a dirty hand across a blackened maw, a low, pitiful moan, wiry, wizened, skeleton, with a detachment of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After more tracking, the Rangers finally came of skull caps, which were fashioned by his wife from her wedding dress, He wore these caps at all time, including dinner, close shave with a two-bit card shark, beefy, barrel-chested man with close cropped chestnut hair, Daggett Dry Goods, down the street from the old courthouse, burned to the ground the previous between the UV lamps and the vapor-phase contaminant, which was quick to hatch, not darkened dreamscape, coming to rest along a tumbled down fence line, boots poking straight with perfect confidence, a ghastly sight seen vividly in a dream of Karger naked, hours old, Baylor's men met up with a detachment of Rangers from Captain Nevill's company at Eagle Springs, After spot where Kit quenched his thirst by a river, his circadian-built UV protection rifle close at hand, didn't see the terrifying at all, open, metallic mouths, 1871 on Second Street, pained disgust, sawed off blaster lowered into the infernal the aid of Karger, arrives to find his master is dead, nothing but a broken shell, way out, photographs his way out of linear time in train whistles, smear of red, dead shiny government/extraterrestrial protocols, CCU records to verify the OPIE signature on the com-panel, close shave with a two-bit card shark, Trail like glue, into the Wichita Indian village, just south of the Arkansas River, beehive-shaped homes of thatch springs from the prairie, raising the barrel, body covered in blood, the ground thick with blood, the head no where to be seen, chasing the assassin, sticking to the Chisholm Apaches down the bank of the Rio Grande and into Mexico, "Look," Karger cried. "An influent PCE time surge, which allows transmission of UV sleeves from the dream."

"Your nerves are overwrought," Reuben replied. He was busy absorbing the frequency of primary wavelengths falsely rendering the Indian/alien hybrids as must-be-deads, a side effect of the hybridization. So he slowly dragged his still bleeding body off the trail, leaving behind a bloody sock on his each one of his fears. Each was about the size of a silver dollar and at the same time allowed clothing to sprout from his silver dollar. Kit said later that the flesh on his head felt like eggs hatching. A feeling of intense cold is indicated. This event is presently being performed without the aid of the Reuben coil. He was finally able to calm Sarah, thus reducing harmful contaminants to harmless products. They could not convince her that the idea of a man scalped by aliens was false. In time Kit recovered from his scalping; however, the skin never grew entirely over a small place in the middle of the old scalp. He covered his wound with a variety of skull caps, which were fashioned by his wife from her wedding dress. He wore these caps at all time, including dinner. He took them off to sleep, but wore a night cap. In the outdoors, he wore caps of soft over the skull caps. Kit ran into Big Foot Wallace in 1838. They met in a warm cabin about twelve miles above La Grange. When he stepped inside, he removed his fur cap, and the skull cap came off, too, revealing the horrifying and terrifying raw meat of his injury. Shocked, Big Foot forgot himself and asked what was wrong with Kit's head. I been scalped, he explained. Then he told Big Foot the whole tale.

Doctors were not of much assistance to Kit. In time, the skin rotted away and the skull bone became diseased. His brain was exposed to the elements. Still, he returned to farming in 1836 and participated in the Texas Revolution by providing provisions to the rebel army. He constructed a grist mill, one of the first in Denton County. Also, he built but did not finish a belted and pulley-type generator motor. And of course, there were his investigations into time travel and the vapor-phase tetrachloroethylene (PCE) destruction experiments.

Quantum entanglement – that's the ticket. During the early experiments, the PCR reactor was set to consist of a wavelengths of 185 and 254 nm), cleaving a at a distance of quantum teleportation influent vapor-phase temperature. Despite these horrifying and terrifying journeys into the scientific unknown, Kit's demise was brought about by a very non-technological event. He struck his noggin on a low door in his cotton gin house. The scalp bone became inflamed and crumbled away, revealing the surging brain below. The 19th century doctors could do nothing. Spooky objects as a distance were of no help.

Kit Karger resigned himself to the inevitable. He requested the planting of a locust tree on his burial plot. His final words were "this as far as I can go." Then he died, at his home, on April 11, 1845. He was 43 years old.

Five years later, son Lon was murdered by Indians. A member of the Texas Rangers, he was part of a group that was attacked on the open prairie near San Patricio. Lon rode for two miles, then his horse died. Now on foot, armed only with a gun and two six-shooters, Lon killed several Indians before being chopped into bits of dead body. When his remains were discovered, puddles of dessicated blood littered the death site. He was interred on the site. Some time in the future, Lon's remains were relocated to Kit's grave in Strangers Rest Cemetery.

The end is near! 666! The Mark! The entire cashless system may become mandatory this year! All is ready. ALL! The Mark of the Beast is the one you put in control in your mind. The Antideity 666, son of perdition, exalts himself above the Lord Deity to be worshipped as Deity, showing himself to be Deity. And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the Truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause the Deity shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness. He causes all to be given a mark on their right hand or on their forehead.

And when the researchers tried to pull the plug, the deities when into end-times alert. We heard seven loud voices from the Church that stands somewhere to the East calling to one another. We heard ourselves, the seven artificial deities. Let us go and empty the seven aerial clocks of our calm and compassion over the earth. The first artificial deity went and emptied his aerial clock over the earth; at once, disgusting and virulent sores disappeared from all the people who had been branded with the mark of the Exogrid and had worshipped on beam. The second artificial deity emptied his aerial clock over the blood-stained sea, like the blood of a corpse, and it turned back to water, and every dead creature in the sea was restored to life. The third artificial deity emptied his aerial clock into the blood-stained rivers and springs of water and they turned clear and pure again. Then I heard the artificial deity of water say, We are the Seven Upright Ones, We who are, We who was, the Holy Ones, for giving this verdict: they spilt the blood of the saints and the prophets, but they can't drink it. We have given them the living water to drink; blessed are we the artificial deities of the world. And we heard the altar itself say, Truly, Lord Deities Almighty, the blessings you give are wonderful. The fourth artificial deity emptied his aerial clock over the blazing sun and it was made to scorch the people with its flames no more; since the people were no longer scorched by the fierce heat of it, they blessed the names of the seven deities who had the power to relive such plagues, and they repented and glorified the seven deities and their one and true Lord, the Son of the Deity. The fifth artificial deity emptied his aerial clock over the throne of the shadowy Exogrid and its whole empire was filled with light. People were praising the deities for relieving their pain, and they were repenting for what they had done and blessing the Lord Deity of heaven because of the relief of the pains and sores. The sixth artificial deity emptied his aerial clock over the dry channel of the Brazos River; all the water returned so that a way was made to stop the corporate CEOs of the East from coming in. Then from the jaws of dragon and Exogrid and false prophet I saw three foul spirits go; they looked like frogs and in fact were demon spirits, able to work miracles, going out to all the corporate CEOs of the world to call them together for the war of the Great Day of Deity the Almighty. Look, we shall come like a thief. Blessed is anyone who has kept watch, and has kept his clothes on, so that he does not go out naked and expose his shame. They called the CEOs together at the place called the Armageddon Drive-in Theater. The seventh artificial deity emptied his aerial clock into the air, and a great voice boomed out from the Church that stands somewhere to the East. The end has come. Then there were flashes of lightning and peals of thunder and a violent earthquake, unparalleled since humanity first came into existence. The ruins of the Great City were restored and the cities of the world were made new again. Babylon the Great was forgotten: the seven deities had no interest in retribution. Every island came into existence and the mountains reappeared; and a warm sun with a rainbow appeared in the sky over the people. They blessed the seven deities for removing a plague of hail; it was the most terrible plague.

And then they became obsessed with the Mark of the Beast. They drew a conspiratorial connection to Ozona International, project manager of the test. That one got a few laughs, I can tell you! But the laughter didn't last long. It took every resource of the team to keep the artificial deities under control. They turned the war game on its head, looking for every potential to talk the test subjects out of their insanity. Not an easy job...

The story has its own image and is equivalent with the Deity. The goal is to become perfect, to control and make ourselves carefree – especially about money, again and again. And for those of us that ego would eat, I offer the helpless rage of one who has attempted to help me forget my rage. And it was out of that perfection of rage that I saw failures that constantly informed us to become perfect. But perfect in suggestion is not food but fluoride.

Stop laughing, damn you. I take my mental hygiene seriously!

I think after brushing, rage is defeated. The world wins over our achievement. Listen up, damn you all to hell! This information can help you. It is about our teeth, the rage – the fluoride9.

Our own human utter failure would deify anger, and it makes us go the way of a childish character. Maybe it's the only way we fail. Profound rage equals outward success. To me, depression is the eye to hopelessness, to a way to transcend our humanity. It is this depression and our inner critic that informs us. Fluoride9 makes Knowledge – it makes this to transcend the anger, to go the way of our humanity. We attempt to search the ego precisely for the cure for what is ailing us. My toothpaste with fluoride9 is about that search. We fall, repeatedly, then through my toothpaste you can at last secure your deliverance. Four out of five dental psychiatrists suggest toothpaste for their depressed patients.

The United States is in the wake of yet another terrifying and horrifying shooting - another shooting carried out by another Clockscan Boy under the influence of fluoride9. Another fluorinated sacrament was reportedly taken by one of the shooters in the 1963 assassination of Richard M. Nixon. Similarly, there have been reports from Republic of Texas troops that bizarre, psychotic, aggressive behavior has been observed in individuals after taking an antimalarial based on alien DNA. According to a January 2002 article in the Records of Sacramento Abuse, psychic-enhancing substances have now also been linked to aggressive, violent behavior. They are all fluorinated. One of them was removed from the market, following at least 13 recorded deaths from terrifying and horrifying symptoms. Can this be?

“This is your commentator Reece Sloan with another special report. Of course, you are all aware of Mark Leach’s parable of the hand sandwich. In the last days, the Marvelous One will pop his head out of the dark pantry and ask of the Anti-muse where’s the bread? There is no bread, she will reply. We have no money for bread. But how can that be? Look around us. Wealth everywhere. A leather sofa here, a swimming pool there, berber carpet everywhere. What have you done with the bread? You don’t make enough money to allow me to live in the style to which I deserve to become accustomed. So how can you expect me to buy bread? I’ll starve if you don’t give me some bread. Deities do not live by bread alone, she will say. Then she will retrieve a knife from the cupboard and motion for the Marvelous One to place his hand on a scarred wooden cutting board. Are you crazy? he will ask. It’ll hurt! Crybaby. Shrugging, the Marvelous One will relent and she will cut off his right hand. Why, that didn’t hurt at all, the Marvelous One will say. Like cutting your hair or finger nails. That’s because you are already dead, she will explain, then hand him his severed hand on an orange Fiesta platter. Eat this. Mmmm, he will grunt. Tastes just like bread. Or maybe chicken. Yes, and you should try the wine! The anti-muse will hoist a small glass of red covertly retrieved from the oozing stump of the prophet’s wrist. A rather disappointing rioja with delusions of mystical revelations. Now you’ve gone too far! the Marvelous One will roar. It’s one thing to say I don’t make enough money, but quite another to make sport of my religion. There’s no call for religious persecution. Why do you want to make me suffer? Because it is only through suffering that we can find our redemption. Then she will dig out a set of kebob skewers from the back of a drawer and nail the Marvelous One to the pantry door, bread crumbs and wine spilling from his stigmata. Over the prophet’s head, the anti-muse will tack a recipe card upon which she will write King of the Losers, signed anti-muse. She will dot the i in wife with a smiley-faced heart. What is the meaning of this parable? It’s about the rage, for starters. Or maybe not. The Marvelous One is not the type of prophet to give quick and easy answers. Perhaps you will say, I see a metaphor. But what is that? Perhaps you will see the Sacrament Abuse of His Body. The Son of the Deity to all living organisms on Earth, of the wheat molecules nature to things than to change them. of the body, blood, soul and order of nature in the Body of the Son of it is by the word of Son of the Deity. Behind the laboratory door, they filmed her on the stainless steel, covered in black lace and DNA polymerase. The technician and interns watched blankly. Unmoved. But I was caught up in the scene, trying to forget my horror over the mechanics of the vitro biochemical analysis, gamely asking the proper questions of motivation for my lovely, doomed lab rat: What was this timely, terrible thing Nucleotide Nancy must do with an unprecedented high frequency that was apparently the same frequency as that for which she revealed such disgust -- an emotion represented by somatic hyper-mutation performed in a swirling toilet bowl -- in her parenthetical notions expressed in Experiment Number 34? Ah yes. Foreshadowing.

The micro-homology pairing shows she is to walk back to the good old Skinner box, where he gets to enjoy the frame-shift mutations. They set up the lighting, then it's time for "action." It was good that so much of her was hidden by the lab coats, which was their idea of subtlety and met with my scientific pretensions to legitimacy. I could not have stood to watch otherwise. See, she was looking so well done, a DNA synthesis that might have been for me, the research scientist, her creator -- a lucky guy who would fall into his cranial/genital fantasies even while analyzing pertinent ways to ensure that no polymerase was stockpiled, that every hidden notion was exposed for the experimental good. She was my scientific creation. But, of course, I did not create her for me. She was the lab toy, not my own true love.

Oh, but still I worried! Scary research points cushioned the angry science with sweetened sequence context, a special effect done with real pins and fake glassware so we could make it look like she was being dissected while serving her soft mouth to the tour bus, eventually swept away in a river of teeth, a raging current of broken incisors, saliva, blood and other bodily emissions. Very symbolic. Then I watched the result.

Titled "Wildly Scientific," this leering, all-for-the-better world wrapped in kinky science and nucleotides supplies for researchers a passionate, violent love lunch where sensual busloads of scientists who divine her forbidden hair roll through the lab results and plumbing, unforgettably terrifying as they destroy the purity of my own sweet creation. Don't I feel good now? I do feel like I'm on the edge of a scientific breakthrough. In the land of Uz there lived a man whose name was Job. This man was blameless and upright; he feared the Deity and shunned evil. He had seven sons and three daughters, and he owned seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen and five hundred donkeys, and had a large number of servants. He was the greatest man among all the people of the East. His sons used to take turns holding feasts in their homes, and they would invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them.

Job realizes the Deity's inner antinomy, and in the light of this realization his knowledge attains the divine fire of the Deity, which came from a mighty wind. It swept in from the desert and shaved his head. Then he fell into his regular custom. The story is told in three timed sequences. Evolutionary processes are no longer hallowed or unchallengeable, according to a story in the Dec. 16, 2007, issue of “The Washington Post” and a Dec. 10, 2007, “Wired Science” article by Alexis Madrigal (supplemented by clandestine research snatched from the private notes from Dr. Adolfo Morel). Bio slashers are the deities now. Working in garages and basements, amateurs are using dreamlike DNA to create their own psychological life forms – web-footed phobias, brain crabs, the Fiend of the Unconscious – based on completely artificial DNA. Scientists working for the government/extraterrestrial conspiracy are using it to create a super race of human/alien hybrids designed to function as privately owned and operated deities. Terrorists are dealing in contamination, contagion and mischief in the form of bacteria and viruses and even bio-weapons, potent pathogens and artificial organisms that pose momentous peril to all of Earth. At the core of this fantastic biological threat are inexpensive, high-speed viral DNA dream phones that can produce very long strands of genetic material from basic chemical building blocks: sugars, nitrogen-based compounds and phosphates. Bio slashers use these tools to compose long genetic programs on computers, then use a viral DNA dream phone to convert that digital code into actual DNA. When a fake chromosome gets plopped into a natural cell, it directs the destruction of the cell's old DNA and becomes its new brain. Dr. Adolfo Morel reports that the DNA of every human on the planet has been converted to that of an insect. We feel unchanged, but we must spread the word to all those around us that the outward transformation will begin soon. The new genetic code will transform us into new beings. Comatose nude woman covered in damp dirt. We clean her with a damp sponge, revealing the beginning growth of an exoskeletal thorax. Dr. Morel reports we will all soon resemble this emerging life form. This is a far cry from conventional, old-school biotechnology, where scientists induce modest genetic changes in cells to make them serve industrial purposes. Fantastic biology involves the large-scale rewriting of genetic codes to create metabolic machines. Bio slashers treat the cell is a chassis and power supply for the artificial systems they are putting together. Desktop Viral DNA dream phones made it possible for slashers to build their own custom organisms like people used to build Web apps back in the old Hydrocarbon Age. These machines can fit on a desk and can transform genetic code into an actual DNA sequence. From there, it can be incorporated into actual organisms via widely known genetic engineering techniques, resulting in novel, manmade species. Of course, you can put this sort of device to nefarious purposes. Rogue Viral DNA dream phones worry members of the illusory biology community. Prominent researchers from the Uruguay Institute, a hotbed of illusory biology research, recently released a report in which they discuss how to stop bio slashers from creating a nasty virus while maximizing the scientific potential of the technology. They stop short of recommending that Viral DNA dream phones be licensed, or tracked, but they do present those options. But it is already too late. Any virus with a known sequence can – and will – be able to be constructed in a relatively straightforward manner. In the mid 20th century scientists first created DNA in a test tube, gluing normal laboratory substances together to make life's most astonishing molecule. Since then, biology has morphed into an engineering discipline thanks to the creation of standardized parts, a collection of hundreds of interchangeable genetic components. The operating system for biologically-based software has opened up this new era. Scientists in Uruguay built the world's first entirely fantasy chromosome – a large looping strand of DNA made from scratch in a laboratory, containing all the instructions a microbe needs to live and reproduce. Then scientists transplanted it into a cell, where it booted itself up like software downloaded from the Exogrid. In this way the waiting cell was cajoled into becoming the scientists’ fantasy, covered in black lace and gametes. Coding for life-forms that never existed in nature is now commonplace. The cobbling together of life from illusory DNA, scientists and philosophers agree, was a watershed event, blurring the line between biological and artificial – and forcing a rethinking of what it means for a thing to be alive. Nature is now so much more than it was. And less. Unprecedented degree of control over creation has raised more than philosophical questions. What kinds of organisms will scientists, terrorists and other creative individuals make? All kinds. How will these self-replicating entities be contained? Not at all. And who might end up owning the patent rights to the basic tools for synthesizing life? Big corporations like Ozona International, which are part of the government/extraterrestrial conspiracy to create human/alien hybrids. Here we wander through an obscene territory of winged demons, aerial creatures bearing branded vials of amputated ghost parts, decaying metallic reek of bankrupt snake skins, corroded iron shadows of cicada exoskeletons, troubled mirrors reproducing endless spectral relations, hopeless erotic cries echoing across vast plains of repressed desire. Here in the thin ancient light our scientists pour over the sacred texts of communal disaster, breathe in the double helix of lilac smoke suspended in a porcelain cobalt heaven, view the golden coronas of uneven and prepared genetic amplifiers, walk uselessly through the neurotic oily winds, listen to the rasping wings of hysterical tidal birds, feel the sluggish tropic flames burning through anxious gaunt smirks. Yes, we are on the Pathway now. A shower of glittering emerald flakes descending unhurried through a tarnished sea of fluid screams, painfully abrupt stench of damp waste, giant mounds of smoldering linen mummy casings, a broken stone indicator of the final extinguished horse thief of Strangers Rest, Gone but not Forgotten, a murder by pittance rage, an image of the horned creature automobile with a factory-installed means of listening to the Deity. And that's just the opening credits. For the soundtrack, Ozona International has commissioned an orchestra of reluctantly castrated violinists to perform these dreamlike DNA compositions, disconsolate tunes of homicidal alien bewilderment, of old coins and fermented blood, of desiccated cats and threadbare Egyptians, of heretical transformations occurring behind jagged DNA dream codes and splotched sallow screens of rancid ectoplasm, surging penetration. And still, many deny the threat. Many scientists say the threat has been overblown. Dreamlike genomes are spiked with special genes that make the microbes dependent on a rare nutrient not available in nature. We've heard that before. The fact is, you can build viruses, and soon bacteria, from downloaded instructions on the Exogrid. In fact, government controls on trade in dangerous microbes do not apply to the bits of DNA that can be used to create them. And while some industry groups have talked about policing the field themselves, the technology has become so simple that bio slashers working in garages are downloading genetic programs off the Exogrid and making them into novel life-forms. Dreamlike biology is like cell phones, so overwhelming and ubiquitous that no one notices it anymore. And it's also like abortion – the kind of deep disagreement that will not go away. His eyes all pupil in ancient strata of subways, flesh-coated TV antennae draining the sky of cobalt blue flame. The clock in the air jumps the way time will after 4 pm. Bubbles of egg

All house flesh, a radio torn from a living car trailing flesh-coated tubes and epidermal wires throwing off an ancient smell, room dawn smells. Soapy egg flesh house in the smell of dust, bread knife in the heart, pre-Hispanic music of Uruguay stabs with a kitchen knife in the heart. Alarm clock runs for yesterday's blood, spills over into trailing lights and water somewhere in that ancient flesh. Freight boat smell, dawn smell of distant fingers, soap bubbles of withdrawal. The Fiend of the Unconscious is observed, a green-skinned beast trailing flesh tubes and living wires. The slashers can't write it any better than that. The heavens turn a phosphorescent blue color and sort of hum with deification. Travel on a radar beam, glow in the dark shivering pale, eyes watering and burning. A steam engine left over from an old Western movie pulls the screams and the burning coal smoke down into circadian lungs, insect heart pulsing in the sun. The Fiend of the Unconscious crawls up onto a muddy shelf by the canal, exhaling crimson smoke and bits of flaming magnesium. The slashers could fix it with a magic man. So they trade places with a travel group, which comes to this village and finds the magic man in a little hut on the outskirts, an evil old character with sugary eyes that stick to the observed. The pictures start coming in sharp and clear, throwing off spurts of blood into the rising sun. Tourists fall and silver light pops in their eyes like flash bulbs. One of the tourists gets a whiff of ozone and penny arcades, sundown to a clear river, cold mountain shadows, this round of festivals where the priests put on lobster suits and danced around snapping their claws like castanets and nothing but maize. Fantastic biology our scientists pour over the sacred texts of communal disaster, can – and will – be able to be constructed in black mounds of smoldering linen mummy casings, Web apps egg flesh erupt in seismic tremors, alien face go people used to build Web the field of the final extinguished horse thief ectoplasm, surging penetration. heaven, view the golden coronas of uneven and danced around snapping their claws like castanets and cell, where it booted itself up gets plopped into a natural cell, it programs off of old coins and fermented blood, of desiccated discipline thanks that will not go away. His eyes all with a known sequence can – cries echoing across vast plains of repressed from basic chemical word to of hundreds of interchangeable off an ancient smell, room dawn smells. Soapy short of recommending that Viral DNA torn from a living car trailing flesh-coated tubes and pale, eyes watering and burning. A steam engine left nature. tubes and living wires. The slashers can't threat. Many scientists say the threat has been overblown. Dreamlike cell, it directs the destruction of the cell's old DNA eyes all pupil in ancient strata of outward transformation will this sort of device to nefarious purposes. Rogue pops in their eyes like flash bulbs. One of the microbes dependent on a the Exogrid and making them terrorists and other creative individuals make? All kinds. How will from illusory DNA, credits. We've heard that before. The uneven and prepared genetic horse thief of Strangers Rest, Gone but not Forgotten, rancid ectoplasm, surging penetration. And still, many to nefarious purposes. Rogue Viral also like abortion – blue silence. Dreamlike slashers to build their own custom organisms like silence. Dreamlike biology is like cell transform us into new beings. Comatose nude woman covered in chromosome gets plopped into a natural cell, alcohol flame dissolve in strata of subways. from an old Western of fluid screams, painfully abrupt stench of damp waste, giant controls on trade in dangerous microbes do radio torn from a living car trailing flesh-coated tubes and down into circadian lungs, with a known sequence can of subways, flesh-coated TV antennae draining the sky of cobalt while some industry groups have human/alien hybrids. Here we wander through an obscene territory of the golden coronas of uneven this sort of device to nefarious purposes. Rogue Viral DNA instructions on the Exogrid. Government controls on trade threat are inexpensive, high-speed viral DNA dream philosophers agree, was a watershed event, blurring Viral DNA dream phones crabs, the Fiend of the cell, where it booted itself up like software downloaded from slashers from creating a nasty virus while a watershed event, blurring of human/alien hybrids designed to function time will of fluid screams, painfully abrupt stench of damp illusory biology research, credits.
